

CAMPBELL & CAMPBELL

Campbell & Campbell's honors include United States Congressional recognition, major institutional and public art commissions, international competitions and numerous awards from the American Institute of Architects, American Society of Landscape Architects, and the American Planning Association. Their work has also been recognized by the Public Art Index, the National Waterfront Center, the California Preservation Foundation, the Los Angeles Conservancy, the State of California Department of Rehabilitation for Excellence in Barrier-Free Design, and Platinum Honors from the United States Green Building Council.

Their firm's completed work is represented by landmark urban design, public open space, architecture and landscape projects, including the architecture and landscapes of the Audubon Center in Los Angeles; the landscapes of the Los Angeles Central Library, the Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angels, and the First Street Corridor in Los Angeles; the Pasadena, Beverly Hills and Santa Barbara Civic Centers; and major campus projects at Stanford and Western Washington Universities, UCLA, the San Antonio Art Institute and Pomona College. Current efforts include planning and design for urban districts in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Santa Barbara, and La Jolla, and Master Planning projects in Arizona, China and the United Kingdom.

DOUGLAS A CAMPBELL AICP ASLA

Douglas Campbell has received international recognition for his work in landscape architecture as public art; urban design; and environmental, urban and regional planning. His work, with partner Regula Campbell, is noted for advancing the collaborative public art of landscape architecture as creative stewardship of the environment, forging renewed connections with community and the natural world.

Mr. Campbell is a graduate of Pomona College (BA, 1969) and the University of California at Berkeley (MLA, 1974). He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Planners and the American Society of Landscape Architects. Since 1970, in addition to his professional practice, Mr. Campbell has been engaged in research and teaching, and is the author of numerous published works. Mr. Campbell is an Adjunct Professor in the School of Architecture at the University of Southern California, a registered Landscape Architect in the State of California and Past President of the California Council of the American Society of Landscape Architects. He initiated his professional practice and research as a consultant to the United Nations Development Program in Beirut, Lebanon.

REGULA F. CAMPBELL AIA

Regula Campbell's design work is internationally known for its engagement with the natural and cultural landscape. She has also written and lectured widely on art and the landscape, specifically on the relationships between the arts of poetry and landscape design, and the philosophical and spiritual bases of environmental ethics.

Ms. Campbell is a graduate of Scripps College (BA, 1969) and the University of California at Los Angeles (M. Arch., 1978). She is a recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship. She is the recipient of the Inaugural Lois Langland Artist in Residence Program at Scripps College and an appointment as Adjunct Professor in the School of Architecture at the University of Southern California.
